LANGLEY'S EAST INDIA REPOSITORY

At Shakespeare's Tap-room, back of Prince's Street, New Town.

MR LANGLEY begs leave to return his most sincere thanks to the Ladies and Gentlemen of this city, for the many favours received in the course of his business. He really intended leaving this town two weeks ago; but the envoys of a fresh cargo of Goods being received, (which will arrive this day or to-morrow,) he has resolved to stay ONE WEEK longer in this City. The goods are all to be sold at so very low prices, that, for cheapness and beauty, they will not fail to give pleasure to every purchaser. He hopes for a smart sale, as the goods are not charged near the original cost. In this elegant assortment are the following, among many other articles:—Fine Allortment Wire Muslins, upwards of six quarters wide, so low as 3s. 9d. per yard; Yard-wide Muslin, for Gentlemen's stocks, cravats, and handkerchiefs, at 3s. 9d. per yard; Fine Worked Muslin Aprons, bordered round, open-worked all over, and at the corners, from 1l. 11s. 6d. down to so low as 6s. 6d. each; Very fine Bordered and Tamboured Handkerchiefs, as good in quality as any that ever appeared in this country, from 4s. 6d. Double Handkerchief to 15s.; Fine allortment of Finihed ditto, edged round as handsome as lace, so very low as 3s. 9d. the Double Handkerchief. With a large assortment curious bordered ditto, so low as 2s. 9d. each. Also, to be sold, at very moderate prices, an elegant assortment of Chintzes and Silks, and the following articles remarkably low charged: an assortment of all kinds Stripped and Plain Muslins, all breadths and prices, from 2s. 6d. to 15s. per yard. A large and elegant assortment of Black and White Lace Mignonets and Trolleys. Double Edged Trimming of all sorts. All sorts of Silk Tatting at 4l. 4s. per piece. Inferior fort at 3l. 13s. 6d. double piece. Large assortment of Thread Sattins and Shagreen, as low as 1l. 1s. each gown-piece. Large assortment of Plain and Worked Cherryderries, and Gingins worked, at 1l. 12s. a gown-piece. Plain ditto, at 1l. 2s. Fine Stripped Muslin, yard and quarter wide, 2s. 9d. per yard. Very elegant assortment of Chintzes, remarkably low. All sorts of Gentlemen's Waistcoat Pieces, Gentlemen's Worked Ruffles, Silk Veldereen for Ladies Shoes and Gentlemen's Waistcoats; each piece makes six pair of shoes, and so low as 9s. An inferior fort at 7s. Great variety of Gingins for Gentlemen's Waistcoats, as low as 3s. 6d. each. Waistcoat Breasts, 300 Dozens Silk Handkerchiefs, from 2s. 9d. to 6s. each. Great variety of fine Hollands and Irish Cloths for Gentlemen's shirts. Printed Linens and Cottons for Gowns. —With a large assortment of other articles more fully expressed in hand-bills to be had at the place of sale.

Attendance given from 10 o'clock forenoon each day, till 8 in the evening.

MR LANGLEY can with certainty maintain, that, ever since his arrival here, the goods exposed at his shop, as above, have been equal, if not superior, in quality to any that ever appeared in this country; but he is sorry to add, That, on account of the low prices, dealers in this city have found fault, have said many things to his disadvantage, with a view, no doubt, to prejudice him in the public favour.—Notwithstanding of such malice, many principal families in town, as well as respectable persons of different denominations, have bought goods from time to time, and still continue Mr Langley's friends. He hopes, they and the Public in general will favour him with their countenance but for two weeks longer, during which time, he challenges any dealer to produce any of the above articles superior either in beauty or quality.—The low prices are an advantage to purchasers; and, however great a loss to Mr Langley, he is sure no dealer in this country, whatever low hidden advantage he may take to hurt him, will make up the deficiency.

From the London Papers, Feb. 17.

Madrid, Jan. 25. We wait with the utmost impatience for an account of the arrival of the Spanish squadron under Don Michel Galton, which sailed from Brest for the Straights, the 12th of this month, in company with some French men of war.

Paris, February 4. A vessel arrived here from Martimico, which place the left on Dec. 4, brings advice, that all the convoy that sailed in August from Port L'Orient, Rochefort, and Bourdeaux, were arrived at Port Royal without any accident; and that M. de Bouille had sent provisions and fresh troops to Grenada, which Island is now out of danger.

It is said that M. de la Mothe Piquet arrived at Martimico the 26th of November, with seven ships, which were in so bad a plight, and some of them even dismasted, that they must have fallen a prey to Admiral Parker, had he not quitted his station but two days before, in order to make an attempt on the Grenades.

It is assured, as a matter of fact, that the Robust, the Fendant, and the Sphinx, are returned to the Bay of Port Royal, in Martimico. No news as yet of the Tonnant.

They write from Cadiz, that the Heros that sailed from Toulon on an expedition on the coast of Africa, has put into that port.

It is asserted, that since the commencement of the present war, there has not yet sailed out of the ports of France so large a fleet of merchantmen as that which M. de Guichen is going to take under his convoy. In consequence, the whole attention of the Government is fixed on his departure, and on the designs of the Admirals Rodney and Ross, relative to Gibraltar. A ship arrived at L'Orient says, she met with them the 16th of January, at Cape St Vincent; Don Galton did not sail till the 13th, and Don Cordova was not yet ready to put to sea to assist Don Barcelo. Notwithstanding these strong squadrons, and those that are yet to sail for different destinations, we shall still have this year in the Channel, a fleet of 36 ships of the line, among which are several three deckers.

A M E R I C A.

New-York, Dec. 18. An officer lately released from Ploughkeeply Jail informs us, that when he came away there were 16 of his Majesty's liege subjects lying in irons in the Dungeons; that George Clinton is constantlyconcerting how to torture the Loyallists who fall into his clutches. There were 60 others closely confined in the jail, and hardly a morsel of bread to subsist on. The same gentleman informs us, that an application made by a number of persons, among whom was this George Clinton's brother-in-law, for the pardon of one Jeacock, whom he had ordered to be executed for his attachment to his King; his answer was, that as he never expected mercy he would never show any to such as attached themselves to the King's cause.

Mr Washington, chief commander of the Rebel forces, some days ago, on his passage over Hudson's river, underwent a very painful immersion from the oversteering of his boat, and continued three quarters of an hour in agonizing for the preservation of his life.

L O N D O N.

HOUSE OF LORDS, Wednesday, Feb. 16. The Irish Trade bill, the bill relative to Spanish prizes, the Lickford Inclosure bill, the Southampton Road bill, and the Gosport Road bill, were presented, and read the first time.

Counsel were called to the bar, to be heard on an appeal, wherein Andrew Wauchope of Niddry, Esq; is appellant, the Right Honourable James Earl of Abercorn, and Sir Archibald Hope, Baronet, respondents, together with a cross appeal between the same parties. Mr Solicitor General and Mr Macdonald were heard for the appellant, and Mr Attorney General for Lord Abercorn; after which, the further hearing was adjourned till this day.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Wednesday, Feb. 16.

As soon as the Honble was made, it being previously understood that the Speaker was indisposed, a motion was made, That on the rising of this House it do adjourn till Monday next.

Sir Fletcher Norton looked extremely indisposed, and as soon as a few private orders which stood as orders of the day were gone through, the House rose, and adjourned till Monday next, and of course the adjourned debate on Sir George Savile's motion, relative to the laying a list of the petitions before the House, will stand the first order of the day for Monday next.

Mr Burke's bills were moved for on Monday, in the House of Commons, in the following manner:

Motion made, and question put,

"That leave be given to bring in a bill for the sale of the forest, and other Crown lands, rents, and hereditaments, with certain exceptions, and for applying the produce thereof to the public service, and for securing, ascertaining, and satisfying tenant rights, and common, and other rights."

Lord North signified his Majesty's consent.

The question was then put and agreed to, and the following Members ordered to bring in a bill:

Mr Burke, Sir Geo. Savile, Mr Byng, Recorder of London, Lord Offord, Mr Fox, Colonel Barre, Mr Dunning, Sir R. Clayton, Sir William Guise, Lord J. Cavendish, T. Townsend, Sir Joseph Mawbey, F. Montagu, Mr Gilbert.

Motion made and question proposed,

"That leave be given to bring in a bill for the more perfectly uniting to the Crown the principality of Wales, and the County Palatine of Chester, and for the more completely administration of justice within the same, and also for abolishing certain offices now appertaining thereto; for quieting dormant claims, ascertaining and securing tenants rights, and for the sale of all forest lands, and other lands, tenements, and hereditaments, held by his Majesty in right of the said Principality, or County Palatine of Chester, and for applying the produce thereof to the public service."

Lord North signified his Majesty's consent.

Question put and agreed to, and a bill ordered to be brought in by the persons above named.

Motion made and question proposed,

"That leave be given to bring in a bill for uniting to the Crown the Duchy and County Palatine of Lancaster; for the suppression of unnecessary offices now belonging thereto; for the ascertainment and security of tenant and other rights, and for the sale of all rents, lands, tenements, hereditaments, and forests, within the said Duchy and County Palatine, or either of them, and for applying the produce thereof to the public service."

Question put and agreed to, and a bill ordered to be brought in by those Members who were directed to bring in the first.

The King of Spain has demanded an immediate succour from his whole numerous body of Religious. The whole kingdom is in the greatest consternation, on account of the naval successes of the English; and several private vessels of war, which were fitting out, have of a sudden declined all preparation for the sea.

Extract of a letter from Cadiz.

"Don Juan de Langara was cruising on the 16th of January, between Cape St Vincent and St Mary, with eleven sail of the line; when apprized of the approach of the English Squadron, he held a council; the result of which was, that each ship should try to save itself. Two of them escaped, and got safe into Cadiz on the 17th; the others engaged, and Langara, being resolved to sacrifice himself, made a most gallant defence for fourteen hours; but surrounded at last by the whole English Squadron, his own ship, the Phoenix, being dismasted, that, and two others, the Princess and Diligente, at length struck; the San Domingo took fire during the engagement and blew up. The St. Julian and St Eugene were likewise taken; but the number of English put on board, being too small to manage those ships in the storm which ensued, were, with the assistance of the Spaniards, obliged to carry those ships into Cadiz, for the preservation of their lives. Afterwards, about fifty sail of English vessels, laden with provisions, &c. got into the Straits. Don Barcelo continues near Algeciras, and has put his ships under the protection of the land batteries: so that Sir George Rodney will find it difficult to burn or take them."

The Madrid Gazette, of the 28th of January, confirms the entry of the St Julian and St Eugene into Cadiz, and also contains the following article:

Cornwall, Jan. 20. The 16th inst. the American ship the Alliance, of 28 guns, and 150 men, commanded by the famous American Paul Jones, arrived here. He sailed from the Texel the 17th of last month, having eluded the vigilance of the English, who had a squadron looking out for him; and expected him in the Downs. He crossed the Channel, and came here safe, without meeting with any of the enemy's ships. In his cruise for ten or twelve days off our Capes, he took a Dutch ship, laden with ammunition and provisions for Gibraltar, which he sent to Boston. The famous Capt. Cunningham is with him, having escaped out of an English prison.

A strong fleet is preparing with the utmost dispatch possible, and it is said will be commanded by Admiral Barrington: the destination is for Channel service, to prevent, if possible, the French sending any further force to the West Indies or America, or a future junction with the Spaniards.

Commodore Walringham will certainly sail with six sail of the line in a few days, to reinforce Sir Peter Parker at Jamaica.

Certain advices are received, that a French fleet, consisting of 17 ships of the line, with 4000 troops, sailed from Brest the 6th instant, supposed for the West Indies.

The grand fleet of France under M. D'Urfé will consist of no more than 28 sail of the line, and it is actually much doubted whether that number will be able to proceed to sea before the latter end of May, as the flower of the navy is comprised in the West India squadron.

The French and Spanish prisoners (as appears by letters in town) are dangerous companions, owing to the reproaches of the latter, who lay their misfortunes at their feet. They fight constantly, and murder is daily expected among them.

There are private letters in town from New York, of a late date, that mention great dissensions among the people in Pennsylvania; so much, that the report was current the Congress had thoughts of removing to Boston.

EDINBURGH.

Extract of a letter from London, Feb. 17.

" This morning early, died, at Lord Ossory's house, in Grosvenor Place, the Right Honourable Lord Holland, in the seventh year of his age. The title and estate devolves to the Honourable Charles Fox, whose seat in Parliament becomes vacant on that account.

" This day, summonses were issued out for a Privy Council to be held to-morrow at St James's; after the breaking up of the levee.

" This day, Counsel were again called to the bar of the House of Peers, to be further heard on the appeal, wherein Andrew Wauchope, Esq; is appellant, the Right Honourable James Earl of Abercorn, and Sir Archibald Hope respondents, together with a cross appeal between the same parties. After hearing the Lord Advocate for Scotland, the House adjourned the further consideration of that business till to-morrow.

" The Irish trade bill, and the prize bill, were this day read a second time in the House of Peers, and committed for Tuesday next.

" The friends to Government in North Carolina have taken up arms in favour of the King. The Quakers in Philadelphia, to avoid being thought ambiguous in their proceedings, have declared in favour of the King, and have raised subscriptions in order to purchase provisions, which they cook and send regularly to the British prisoners. Numbers of violent Whigs have got their eyes opened by D'Eftaigne's conduct, and demand of the surrender of Savinah in the King of France's name, which, with the reports of the German rising against the Congress, seem to bespeak a general dissatisfaction, and an abhorrence of French and Congressional tyranny."

On the 17th instant died, at his house in Renfrewshire, William Millar, Esq; of Walkinshaw.

On Tuesday last a fire broke out in the house of Provost Lachlan Campbell, Inverary, which entirely consumed the same, together with the greatest part of the furniture. Happily no lives were lost; and, we hear, the premises were insured.

Saturday, the two footpads, formerly mentioned, were served with their indictments. It is therefore supposed their trial will come on before the High Court of Justiciary this day fortnight.

Theatre-Royal, Feb. 21.

The Theatre being honoured with such repeated marks of kindness from the Nobility, Gentry, and the Public in general, Mr. WILKINSON fears it would carry the appearance of neglect to them, at a time when he is so much favoured, to withdraw himself, though his attendance at the Theatre-Royal, York, (for various reasons) is absolutely necessary; he will therefore defer his departure till late in Lent, and, till that time, as bound by the ties of gratitude and duty, attend the commands of his Patron at Edinburgh. He also begs leave to inform them, that he will take every method in his power, by a variety of new Performers and Pieces, to render the Theatre both novel and entertaining the ensuing Races.—On Wednesday, by desire of the Wig Club, the Clandestine Marriage, and Harlequin Fortunatus.—On Saturday, the Conscious Lovers, and the Quaker.

Extract of a letter from Newcastle, Feb. 19.

Last Sunday, as the people were going from Coatham to Kirkleatham Church, they were alarmed by the fire of a large gun from a smuggler at sea, which careered 24 guns, one and twelve-pounders. The people saw about 70 or 80 of the crew coming from the ship in long-boats, armed with underbutches, pistols, &c. in order to refute a large seizure of liquor made at Redcar by the Whitby officers, attended by four of the Cumberland militia. As soon as the smugglers landed, they retook part of the seizure at Redcar and Coatham, and staved in the heads, for the populace drink; and, pursuing the carts, &c. laden with the other part, they came up with them near Wilton, and seized the remainder, the officers and soldiers having expended all their rounds, but happily no lives were lost. They then staved three casks there, one in Wilton Wood, and carried the remainder back."

Extract of a letter from Cork, February 10.

Several ships arrived here this week from New-York; they sailed from Sandy Hook, Dec. 23. with a fleet of 105, which was dispersed by a storm, two days after, and it feared that the Solebay frigate foundered, as she was seen great distress during the gale.

In the above fleet the officers, sergeants, corporals, drummers, &c. of the 26th or Cameronian regiment, arrived. The number that remained of them was incorporated into other corps. After remaining here about a week, they were embarked on board a transport, with others, to sail for England.

All Portuguese schooner arrived here in twelve days from Ubes, where two of Admiral Rodney's prizes were driven by gales of wind; nine more of them, with the Shrewsbury and Dublin men of war, are said to be at Lisbon; the Admiral met a violent gale a few days after taking the Spanish ships."

Extract of a letter from Galway, Feb. 10.

Yesterday, put in here in distress, the Carnatic sloop, Capt. Gibbons, from St Christopher, bound to Cork; she had ten weeks on her passage, having sprung two leaks, and had four feet water in her hold. She mounted 32 guns, of which, except two, were thrown overboard, together with the powder, &c. She brings nothing new.

Same day put in here also in distress, the Tom-armed sloop, Capt. Banks, from New-York to Cork, in six weeks, having on board several passengers, and about fifty Italian invalids."

The following CHARACTER of the brave Col. Maitland, who saved Savannah, is copied from Riverton's New York Royal Gazette, of December 15. 1779.

THE late Colonel Maitland was one of the most active officers at the commencement, and during the progress, of the present war. His zeal and gallantry were sufficient incitements to lead him where danger dignified and rendered a post honourable. Though he possessed no easy fortune, had a seat in the House of Commons, and was of an advanced age, yet he never availed himself of such powerful pretensions, or expressed a desire of retiring from the field-of-honour. Unshaken loyalty, genuine patriotism, undaunted bravery, judicious conduct, steady coolness, and unremitting perseverance, constituted his character as an officer. His benevolence was ever exerted when indigence presented; he not only relieved, but sympathized with the distressed. To inform him of any person that required charitable exertion, was an ample recommendation. His disposition was so extremely amiable, that to know him was to admire him. His address was easy and engaging; his language strong, nervous, and persuasive; his ability rendered him pleasing to every observer. He was beloved by his friends, respected by his acquaintance, and revered by every officer and soldier under his command. His country will feel the loss of so accomplished a chief; his acquaintances will long lament the loss of so venerable a friend; the indigent search in vain for another so eminently benevolent; and the soldiers, long accustomed to his pleasing command, lament his death, and revere his memory.

It is said, that when he arrived at the head of his 800 brave men from Beaufort, he immediately appeared in the council of war, where the members were deliberating about the answer to be sent to D'Eftaigne, and even about the terms of capitulation. Upon hearing mention made of capitulation, the gallant Colonel strode, though almost quite worn out with fatigue, and said, that the word capitulation was what he abhorred; adding, in a firm tone, that "if he should survive and go home to Britain, he would report to the King the name of the first officer who should dare to propose a capitulation." This had the proper effect. The consequence is known.

IRISH PARLIAMENTARY INTELLIGENCE.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1.

Petitions from several persons praying to be included in the heads of the bill now pending in the House for relief of insolvent debtors, were presented, read, and referred to a Committee.

The first part of the order of the day being read, Mr. Fox, according thereto, presented from the Committee of the whole House, "A Bill for striking the commissions of judges in this kingdom quodlibet tempore regis."

The heads were read by the Speaker, agreed to, and ordered to the Lord Lieutenant for transmission.

Mr. Fox then gave notice that he should, on a future day, move for an humble address to his Majesty, that he will be graciously pleased to enclose the judges salaries.

Mr. Fox's Bill was read, that though he highly approved of such an address, yet he thought the measure premature until the bill just mentioned to come back from England.

Mr. Grattan made some observations on the heads of the Judges Bill, and said, that it was not ten years since this kingdom had received the royal promise that the judges should hold their places in respect of the Crown; but the royal promise had been broken by the Minister, for the bill framed according to the royal dictation came back materially altered. He hoped it would not be the case at present; but that, without any delay in the transmission, the bill unaltered would come back; for, added he, altering our bills now would be an ill-timed measure, and very ill received by the House.

The second part of the order of the day was then read, "For the House to resolve itself into a Grand Committee, to take into further consideration his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant's speech."

The House resolved itself accordingly, Right Hon. Mr. Fox, Mr. Fox, in the chair.

The Attorney-General said, "That, after what had passed on Wednesday, it was needless to enter further into the business than more" that a further supply be granted his Majesty."

This being agreed to, Mr. Fox left the chair; the House adjourned, and ordered that the report of the Grand Committee be received to-morrow, at which time the House adjourned.

SATURDAY, FEB. 12.

Several petitions from persons praying to be included in the heads of the bill for the relief of insolvent debtors, were presented, read, and ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Annesley, after some observations on the necessity there was of amending the bankruptcy law, from the slaves that had crept into its operation, moved, "That the proper officers lay before the House, an account of the several commissions of bankruptcy issued in this kingdom, the bankrupts names, the sums claimed against them, and the dividends made, with the dates, &c." Lord Malmesbury made a motion before the Christmas recess, similar to the above, in the Upper House.]

The motion was seconded by Mr. Green, who offered further reasons on the expediency of amending the bankrupt law.

The papers were ordered in accordingly.

The Right Hon. John Fox reported, according to order from the Committee, for taking into further consideration the Lord Lieutenant's speech, their resolution, "That a further supply be granted to his Majesty."

To which report the House agreed, and ordered, That a Committee of the whole House shall, on Thursday next, take into consideration the granting a further supply to his Majesty.

Leave was given to bring in heads of a bill to regulate the butter trade.

Mr. Chapman said, in every other country, retributions and revenge were still directed against him who was the author, or was supposed to be the author of the injury received; but in this country, mankind's animals suffer instead of their masters, and have a vengeance wreaked upon them, that seems peculiar to this country. I need not, said he, mention the practice of houghing cattle. He then moved for leave to bring in heads of a bill for more effectually preventing the practice of houghing cattle; which was granted accordingly.

Mr. Dennis Daily presented from the Committee appointed to draw the same, "Heads of a bill to regulate the Stag."

They were accordingly read at the table, committed for Monday evening, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Gardner presented from the Committee appointed to prepare the same, "Heads of a bill for establishing turnpike roads in the county of Dublin."

The said heads were committed for this day fortnight, and ordered to be printed.

Sergeant Wood moved, That the order for trying the Queen's county election, be adjourned from Monday next to after the ensuing assizes.

This was proposed, and a long and languid debate ensued, which was at last put an end to by Sir Henry Cavendish, who moved the general question of adjournment, which being agreed to, the House adjourned to Monday.

SALE of LANDS in FIFE,
And a PIECE of GROUND, &c. near Newhaven.
To be SOLD by public roup, within the British coffeehouse, Edinburgh, upon Monday the 28th day of February 1780, between the hours of four and six afternoon, by Mr Ludwick Grant accomptant in Edinburgh, as trustee for Thomas Walker, Esq; of Saintford, and his creditors.

THE Lands and Estate of SAINTFORD, lying in the parish of Forgan, and shire of Fife, pleasantly situated upon the south side of the river Tay, nealy adjoining to the public Ferry to Dundee, with in six miles of St Andrews, and the same of Cupar, the county town. The whole of this estate consists of about 773 acres, mostly of good arable soil. There is a neat commodious mansion-house upon the lands, with suitable offices, all in very good repair, a large well stocked garden and an orchard. The purchaser may have immediate access to the mansion-house, offices, garden, orchard, and part of the adjacent inclosures, presently occupied by Mr Walker.

Upon the estate there is a great quantity of old full grown trees, besides very considerable young plantations in a thriving condition. There is an heritable right to the teinds of part of the lands; the tythes of most of them are valued by decrees of valuation as far back as the 1637 and 1743, and the minister of Forgan having within these 40 years got a considerable augmentation of his stipend, there can no additional burden be supposed to affect the tythes for many years hence.

For the encouragement of purchasers, this estate is to be set up at 24 years purchase of the free rent.
